

A Boston schoolboy was tall, weak and sickly.

His arms were soft and flabby. He didn't have a strong muscle in his entire body.

The physician who had attended the family for thirty years prescribed Scott's Emulsion.

NOW:

To feel that boy's arm you would think he was apprenticed to a blacksmith.

HOGWALLOW NEWS

We are forced to direct attention of the citizens of Hogwallow to the ill-bred manner in which some of our hawks respond to the voice of their master at feeding time. Instead of approaching their corn in a refined way they cast aside all formality and scourage in as though they were half starved. Now all the censure should not be heaped upon the hawks, for is it not the way they have been reared? The owners are much to blame for this outward manifestation of ill-breeding. Now do not understand us to mean that all hawks are below the standard in manner for we have never saw a more genteel lot of swine than them owned by the Dog Hill preacher. Often, however, we have been forced to be ashamed of the entire hawk family by the rowdiness a majority of them practice. Only a short while ago were over to Tobe Moseley's house when he threw over the corn the hawks stampeded for it in a manner most disgraceful, throwing formality to the winds, regardless of the several visitors present. Now teach your hawks to act properly; teach them to rise gently when they are called, and walk slowly to the feed, with ears and tails in their natural positions, take small bites and eat not like they were half starved, but like a hawk in a civilized country should eat. Teach them to do this and you will see a more refined class of hawks.

Jefferson Potlocks has fed his horse so much broom corn that its main and tail sweep the ground.

Miss Hostetter Hooks has gone to Bounding Billows to have a doubt removed from her mind.

Cemeteries are beautiful places but the inhabitants are so wrapped up in the soil that they can't enjoy the scenery.

culiar, but simple. He took a fruit jar, put a lighted candle in it, and then screwed the top down tight. The candle burned out leaving all the light in there, and it can be kept as long as the top is kept screwed down so that no darkness can get in.

Dear Editor: I have a fine voice but am not putting it to use, only of course in talking. What is your advice. Yours, May.

We gather that you are a farm girl. If so cultivate your voice and raise songs.

An ambitious young man once heard that Abe Lincoln split rails and became president of the whole country. As above mentioned, the young man had ambitions, and set in to qualify himself for presidential honors by splitting rails. He made himself a nice maul and camped in the woods and made great stacks of rails, all the while having his eye on the president's chair. After an elapse of fifty years the man is now ready to die, and can do so with laurels on his forehead, because he is known all over that neighborhood as his champion rails-plitter.

A shot-gun in the hands of Raz Barlow went off in the postoffice Thursday and might have proved fatal had not Raz presence of mind enough to put his hat over the muzzle before the load got out.
